BRITAIN'S MULTICULTURAL MESS

July 2014

Among the fighters in Syria and Iraq some 500 young men are said to be from Britain, many of them born and educated here. One at least, was known to have been radicalised in prison. Others are said to be ordinary young men from different parts of the country including Cardiff and South London. Some have been featured in videos that have appeared on the social media appealing to other young men in Britain to come and join them.

Radicalisation

The great fear is that these young men will not only be trained to use a range of modern weaponry but also to carry out the most violent atrocities such as those now being seen in Iraq and which have been constantly reported happening in Syria over the past two years.

It is what will happen to these young men if they don't achieve 'martyrdom' but return to Britain that is the great concern of the police and counterterrorist authorities. If they are naturalised British subjects their citizenship can be renounced and they can be deported to their country of origin; but the majority of these young men were probably born in Britain and they will present a problem for many years to come. We simply don't have the resources to track each one individually.

Lasting Tensions

A similar problem is being created in all the other Western European countries where Muslim young men are going to fight in the Middle East. Their presence will create lasting tensions in cities where already there is segregation and unease. This is why there is such concern over the schools in Birmingham that are exclusively teaching a Muslim brand of education and culture which not only perpetuates segregation but paves the way for radicalisation.

Home-Grown Folly

Of course, this situation is entirely home-grown. It is not something that has been imposed upon us from the EU or from anywhere else. It is the product of the policies of our own politicians over many years. The big debates in the early 1960s deliberately opened the doors to the flood of immigrants from former colonies of the dying British Empire.

Our politicians simply could not let the Empire go! We had to feel that we were still the 'Mother Country' of a great Commonwealth of Nations all of whose children were welcome. But we made no provision for those who settled here to teach them our culture and values which are all based upon our Judaeo-Christian heritage. We did not even insist that they learned our language: and we even said that when they produced children they could send them back to their native lands to find a husband or wife and bring them back to Britain and they could become British citizens, and produce more children, thus perpetuating the flow of new immigrants ad infinitum. And that is still the situation today, fifty years later!

Tolerance and Equality

We have despised our birthright; selling it for a mess of multicultural pottage! Now we are paying the price as we have allowed hardline Muslims to take control of schools teaching a narrow faith-based ideology. We have ignored all the warning signs for 50 years allowing children to be exposed to religious teaching that preaches hatred of Jews and Christians and Western democracy. All this has been done deliberately by politicians of all our main parties in the name of tolerance and equality - the gods of this age which we idolise! No wonder that UKIP is so popular!!

Assyria and Babylon

God does not have to bring judgement upon our nation - we do it ourselves! God watches with amazement that we could be so stupid. And now we are worried about the boys coming back from Iraq, the land of Nineveh (Mosul) capital of the ancient Assyrian Empire that destroyed Israel in 722 BC and Babylon (Baghdad) capital of the Babylonian Empire that destroyed Jerusalem in 586 BC.

They have gone to a land that has a long history of violence and oppression, where they have been trained by experts in cruelty and human atrocities. They will have been filled with hatred for Western democracy, for Jews and Christians and for the whole of our culture and freedoms for which we fought two world wars.

No Solution

What does the future hold? We cannot stop these militant extremists coming back to the land of their birth although they are likely to be highly unstable after participating in brutal warfare. Humanly speaking there is no solution. We have created a catastrophe for which we have no answer.

Mobilise Prayer

But this is the hope for the future. God loves it when we get into impossible situations and we cry out to him for help. It is time to mobilise the prayer warriors throughout the land. It is time to cry out to God for him to awaken the church to the danger facing the nation and to come before him in repentance. It is time to cry out to God for the General Election next spring that godly men and women will be elected to Parliament who will cry out to God in repentance for the political follies of the past and seek his way for the nation.

Light of Truth

This is the hope for the future - that the thousands of little prayer groups across the country will radiate the power and presence of the Lord bringing the light of truth to shine ever brighter in each village and town and city until their lights join up and the glory of the Lord is radiated right across the land. The power of God-directed prayer can achieve this, and herein lies the hope of the nation.
